BUS ACCIDENT—No injuries were reported when a Hancock County school bus ended up in a ditch on Lower Bay Road early Tuesday morning, according to Hancock County Deputy Sheriff Dennis Tartavouille. The officer said that Mrs. Pauline Ruhr was driver of the bus which was also occupied by her son at the time of the accident. "The driver struck a high shoulder on the side of the road and apparently lost control of the vehicle, landing in the ditch," Tartavouille stated. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

System users will not bear Wastewater Segment II costs

Construction on Segment II of a four-phase Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District project will not increase sewer system user charges in Bay St. Louis or Waveland.

New 4-H youth agent employed

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Dane Jackson of Webster County has been employed as the Hancock County 4-H Youth Agent with the Cooperative Extension Service. Jackson is currently preparing for livestock judging contest coming up in January at the Dixie National Rodeo. He is also working with the hunter safety program and planning a district 4-H Forestry Field Day for next spring. "I am anxious to be working with the youth in the county," Jackson said. A graduate of Mississippi State University, Jackson has a bachelor's degree in science degree in forestry and a bachelor's degree in business administration. Jackson and his wife, Nora, are the parents on one daughter, Carrie. His hobbies include golf, tennis, hunting and fishing. Jackson replaces former Youth Agent Gwen Elmore Necaise.

Jackson, local costs for Segment II can be paid through available funds. The remainder of the cost will come from a 75 percent grant through the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency totalling $767,072 and an interest-free state loan for 12.5 percent or $127,845. Segment II includes preparations for the linkage of the Waveland wastewater treatment plant with the Bay St. Louis sewage lagoon. The office and workshop building at the plant will be expanded and pipeline will be constructed from the lagoon to the plant site at Gulfside Drive.

Work on Segment II is expected to begin early next year. The district will take bids on the project Dec. 11. Segment I, which consists of installation of additional pumps and circulation lines at the Bay lagoon and construction of a pumphouse and office, is currently underway. That segment has also been financed with an Environmental Protection Agency grant, an interest-free state loan and available local funding.

St. Thomas to host 'Blessing of the Animals'

BY DENA BISNETTE
St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Diamondhead will be the setting for the area's first "Blessing of the Animals" ceremony at 4:30 p.m. Sunday. Father Meredith Spencer, pastor, will officiate at the ceremony in the church parking lot. Spencer said the ceremony is a family version of a special church service primarily aimed at children. "With the children, its purpose is to give them the sense that all things created by God are intended to have his blessing," he explained. "We're celebrating animals as a gift of God." "The theological background for it is in Genesis, where God gives Adam and Eve dominion over the animals and everything with the breath of life in it," he added. He said Sunday's service will be only the second Blessing of the Animals in which he has participated, and the first one to his knowledge to be celebrated in Hancock County.

"I tend not to bless things that are inanimate. I feel it is more appropriate to bless something living," Spenser said. The animal blessing ceremony is more common in England than in the United States, and the idea of providing one in Diamondhead was given to him by a member of the St. Thomas congregation, Mary Cassis. Cassis said the idea originated during a conversation with some English friends who recently visited her. The English version of the ceremony tends to concentrate on farm animals as well as pets and both are to be included Sunday. The public is invited to participate and to bring pets or livestock. Cat owners are requested to assemble on the north side of the parking lot, while dogs are to be taken to the south side. Larger animals such as horses and cattle should be taken to the center of the site.

NASA awards $8.5 million contract for NSTL system

BY DENA BISNETTE
NASA has awarded a contract for providing and installing a new telecommunications system at National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County. According to a spokesperson for Congressman Trent Lott, the contract was awarded to South Central Bell Advanced Systems, a Birmingham, Ala., based firm. The amount of the contract is approximately $8.5 million, but may change as NASA negotiates with the contractor during the project. The system is described as a telephone-computer voice data system.

The contractor is to provide switching and distribution equipment as well as the system's software.

The present term of the contract is one to five years with options for NASA to renew. Work at NSTL is expected to begin early next year.

Zoning change near hospital site tabled

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Following a lengthy discussion, the Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission voted to conduct further investigations of a zoning proposal before making a recommendation to the city council. Dr. James C. Crittenden had requested a zoning change from R1 (single family residential) to C1 (light commercial) for a piece of property adjoining the site of the new hospital.

Crittenden told the commission he wanted the property zoned so it can be used for medical property. "I want to construct an office building in which to practice medicine," he said. "The area is going to change whether I change it or somebody else changes it because of the hospital being located there," he added. Crittenden stated his proposed office building would look more in the nature of a residential dwelling than an office building. "I am just as interested in this area as others here at this meeting because I am already building a beautiful home back in this area," he said. "I'm not trying to put this clinic in an area where I don't live, so obviously whatever I build I want to compliment the area," Crittenden said. Also speaking in support of the zoning change was Hancock General Hospital Administrator Philip Langston. "From the hospital's standpoint we feel it is very important that the property around the hospital be used for health-related activities," he said. Langston added that he believed the area surrounding the hospital should be restricted to health-related activities. "Doctors offices and other health related activities will complement the hospital and the health care services we want to offer to this community rather than people having to travel to New Orleans or Gulfport," Langston said. "Speaking for the hospital's board of directors and staff, we very much support the zoning change," he said. Several area residents appeared at the meeting to voice their opposition to the zoning change, fearing the encroachment of commercialization on the neighborhood. "We are just concerned that in later years much more of the surrounding neighborhood will become commercial property," said Debbie Scianna. Steve Scianna told the commission that he believed all other available land already zoned commercial should be utilized first. Resident Harold Zeugin said the area was already congested and that roads are not wide enough. Luke Scianna said he owned property that adjoins the property being considered for a zoning change and he was not in favor of living next door to a clinic. Several other residents also voiced their opposition, including comments that board members already

Second false arrest suit filed after narc busts

BY DENA BISNETTE
A second lawsuit has been filed against Hancock County, the City of Waveland and a group of law enforcement officers involved in "Operation Dawnbuster." The suit names as defendants the county, city, Sheriff Ronald Peterson, Sheriff's Deputy Joseph M. Siebert, and Waveland police officers Mike Pendergast and John Wilkerson. The plaintiff is David John Carver of Waveland who alleges that he was falsely arrested in connection with the May 17 "Operation Dawnbuster" which ended an undercover drug investigation by the sheriff's department. Carver has requested a jury trial and is asking for $100,000 actual damages, $350,000 punitive damages, attorney's fees and court costs. According to the suit, Carver was allegedly arrested on a warrant for David Carver but was not the individual being sought on drug charges which involved one count of sale of a controlled substance. Carver was allegedly awakened at 6 a.m. May 17 by Pendergast, Wilkerson and a third police officer identified in the suit as "Defendant A" and was handcuffed and placed in the back of a patrol car. "The plaintiff informed Officer Wilkerson at this time that he was not the person named in the arrest warrant and also reminded Officer Wilkerson that he has once been mistaken for the same person in an arrest by Officer Wilkerson a few years before," the suit states. Wilkerson allegedly did not attempt to verify Carver's claim at either the time of the arrest or upon arrival at the sheriff's department, although Carver requested verification again because he saw television and newspaper cameras on the scene. The suit further states that Carver was photographed by both television and Sea Coast Echo personnel and that his photograph appeared on the front of the May 19 Echo. In addition, the plaintiff was allegedly detained and had to post a bond of $2,500 to be released. "Although the plaintiff repeatedly informed the law enforcement officials that he was not the same David Carver stated in the arrest warrant, no one in the law enforcement agencies involved in "Operation Dawnbuster" attempted to verify his identification until the plaintiff contacted an attorney, Mack Haas, who later contacted the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and obtained verification that the plaintiff was not one and the same with the person named in the arrest warrant who had been charged with the sale of a controlled substance," the suit states. The charge was dismissed "for

An important public meeting is scheduled tonight at the Hancock County Courthouse on the preliminary proposals for a long-range beachfront improvement program.

Many months of work have gone into this plan and input is needed from the general public.

As we have mentioned before, this is a long-range plan, and we are hoping many citizens will attend the public meeting tonight at 7 p.m.

The public meeting is sponsored by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, and the Bureau of Marine Resources.

On Friday night, the Tigers of Bay High will enter the District VIII-AAA play-off competition in high school football in Purvis.

The Tigers, 8-1 for the season will face Purvis at Purvis High stadium.

Bay High has one of the best records in many years, and we hope there will be a lot of Tiger fans in the stadium.

On the local scene, the Hawks of Hancock North Central will host Forrest County Agricultural High in the annual Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl on Saturday.

Action is scheduled to get underway at 6 p.m. in Hawk Stadium.

The Hawks too have had a good season this year and are hoping for some real good fan support Saturday.

For newcomers, the bowl game is in memory of Wendell Ladner, a local star basketball player, who played professionally with the New York Mets. He was killed in an airplane crash.

In a make-up of a season-opening game which was canceled because of Hurricane Elena, the Pirates of Pass Christian Friday will visit conference champion d'Iberville.

The Pirates will have to pull a tremendous upset to defeat a strong d'Iberville.

The Partners in Progress program sponsored by the National Space Technology Laboratories and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is set for today at NSTL.

The program begins at 9:30 a.m. and we hope there will be a good representation from Hancock County.

Information will be available on job opportunities, and contracting-procurement as well as other items of interest to local businessmen.

We hope to see you at the 'Partners in Progress.'

Senators propose state white collar crime unit

State Senator Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis has joined eleven other senators in co-authoring proposed legislation which would create a "white collar" crime unit within the Attorney General's office.

The bill will be introduced in the 1986 Session of the Legislature.

Other authors include Senators Howard Dyer of Greenville, Mitch Childre of Pearl, Robert Crook of Ruleville, Bill Harpole of Starkville, Bunky Huggins of Greenwood, John T. Keeton Jr. of Grenada, V. C. Manning of Philadelphia, George Smith of Gulfport, Wayne Burkes of Clinton, John White of Baldwin, and Martin Smith of Poplarville.

The bill is patterned after recommendations made by Attorney General Ed Pittman, according to Smith.

"The bill creates a Public Integrity Division within the Attorney General's office to handle cases of so-called 'white collar' crimes and public corruption offenses," said Smith, who is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

He explained that the bill specifically authorizes the attorney general to conduct an investigation or prosecution in any case involving alleged unlawful acts by elected or appointed officials of any agency or in any case involving the alleged misuse of state property.

"The Senate Judiciary Committee has had this issue under consideration in years past.

Nine of the co-authors of the bill are members of the committee and we feel that very serious consideration should be given to creation of this unit and granting the Attorney General various powers which he does not now have.

These would include prosecution authority in these cases and authority to issue and serve subpoenas, to require the attendance and testimony under oath of any person, and require the production of evidence and other information," Smith said.

"We also hope that giving the Attorney General's office the authority to ride herd on this type of crime will serve as a deterrent to crime which is almost as important as identifying those who have committed wrongdoing," he said.

Smith said that he realizes there are very tight constraints on the state budget at this time, but he hopes that enabling legislation will be passed this year with funding appropriated at the earliest feasible time.

ANOTHER PLEA FOR HOME RULE

Mississippi's counties will be asking the Legislature for "home rule" again in 1986. In fact, legislation providing that extra measure of local control for county supervisors has already been pre-filed for the 1986 Legislative Session.

At present, county governments are permitted only those actions specifically granted by the Legislature or the Constitution. Under "home rule," county governments would be permitted to adopt any ordinances not inconsistent with the Constitution or state statutes. Taxation would be excluded from the "home rule" provision.

Municipalities were granted "home rule" by the 1985 Legislature; county governments were turned down in a similar request.

"Home rule" for counties was rejected largely because legislators do not believe county officials have been good stewards of county resources. There are, of course, exceptions; some counties are smoothly and efficiently managed.

As evidence of the lack of proper stewardship among county supervisors, legislators can point to the fact that some 70 of the state's 82 counties still operate under the inefficient, wasteful beat system of county road operations, a system which preserves five road systems per county—one for each county district.

There are other examples cited by legislators for withholding "home rule" from counties.

The answer is clear—Mississippi counties should be granted "home rule" only when they demonstrate that they are able and willing to manage their resources more efficiently and more effectively than they do today.

membership drive is now underway for the newly reactivated organization with individual memberships $5; local groups with less than 50 members, $10; local groups with 50 members or more, $25; and corporate memberships, $50. Dues should be mailed to Friends of Mississippi Libraries, Inc., P.O. Box 10700, Jackson, MS 39209.

Wild as well as tame animals need protection

Nov. 3, 1985
To the Editor:

Dear Sir,
Concerning the letter of Ms. Backus in the Sunday (11-2-85) edition—I am not surprised!

Since I have been here since 1980 I have seen more animals tortured and killed for no apparent reason.

God did not put these animals on this earth for that reason! Animals were created for people's enjoyment!

When I hear and see things of this nature, you wonder how these people treat their children or will.

If they do not have the mentality to treat any animal kind, how can they do anything intelligent!

I was raised in Chicago, Ill., and they had very strict laws on the treatment of animals (tame or wild). People were put in jail for this kind of behavior!

Maybe these people need to be tied down and beaten! It sounds cruel, "but what's good for the goose, is good for the gander!"

Veterans Day a time to assess use, abuse of freedoms

Letter to the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor:
As I write this letter, Veterans Day is being observed with an impressive avenue of American Flags flying in public places as well as on private lawns.

There are touching attributes of remembrance and thanks to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice that we may enjoy freedom and the pursuit of happiness.

It is right that we should do so. We need to be reminded vigorously, conspicuously and frequently of the debts of gratitude we owe.

Sometimes I wonder. If there were a resurrection day and those who died in defense of this country were here to look upon the manner in which we use - or abuse - our freedoms, what their reactions would be?

Have we made our "place in the sun" a happier, better place in which to live? Have we encouraged those of talent?

Do we take corruption in politics and in some areas of business dealings with a "so-what" attitude?

Have we really, honestly and properly used the precious freedoms we have inherited?

Sometimes I really wonder.

JENNY WON'T BE HOME TONIGHT

Her father will be waiting up for her. But, unlike many times before, she won't dash in with reports of a wonderful evening. Her friends invited her to go riding after the party. She hesitated because the driver had been drinking, but what could be wrong with one trip through town? Besides she needed a ride home. If only she could have called her parents....

Approximately 46 teenagers will be killed this year in Mississippi by drinking and driving or riding with someone who does. It's your choice.

Eyes on Mississippi

JACKSON— Back in 1948, unreconstructed Southern Democrats tried to rally the South to band together and withhold their electoral votes from the Democratic presidential candidate in hopes of throwing the election into the U.S. House.

The theory was that both national party candidates would have to deal with the South in order to win the presidency, and out of it would come concessions that there would be no federal interference in the Southern "way of life."

In effect, the South would become a political entity of its own, operating outside the framework of either national party.

It never worked. Only four of the 11 states of the Old Confederacy bought the idea and their electoral votes couldn't stop the election of Harry Truman.

Some of the old Dixiecrats didn't give up their dream for years to come, and as late as 1960, Mississippi's Ross Barnett vainly tried to rekindle the electoral confederacy in order to stop John F. Kennedy. He was left standing alone.

Now, 40 years after the foiled Dixiecrat revolution, the South is once again talking about a political bonding as a region. But this time, the concept is to have the South's voice heard by working inside the national parties, not outside, as in 1948.

The idea of having a Southern regional presidential preferential primary on the same day in 1988 had begun only tentatively back in June when Georgia Secretary of State Max Cleland started making some telephone calls around the South.

Now it has grown into a movement which has support among many of the movers and shakers in the politics of the South.

Two weeks ago a task force of state legislators from 15 Southern and border states making up the Southern Legislative Conference met at White Sulphur Springs, W.V., to discuss holding a southwide presidential primary in March, 1988.

Without dissent, the Southern legislative leaders, including State Rep. Charles Capps of Mississippi, voted to recommend the regional primary. The proposal will go before the SLC's executive committee on Dec. 4.

Capps, who is vice-chairman of the Southern legislative group, said last week he was confident the presidential primary in 1988 will win endorsement of the SLC.

A target date of March 8, 1988, for what would be a "super Tuesday" preferential primary throughout the region is the goal of the legislative leaders. However, there would be some leeway for states which prefer to have their primary later that same week.

Delegate slates for presidential candidates of both national parties would be placed before the voters in the same primary, giving candidates a shot at winning one-third of delegates needed to win the party nomination of either party.

Such an impressive bloc of delegate votes, believe backers, would obviously send a message to both parties that they must produce candidates and programs acceptable to the South.

State chairpersons of both parties in Mississippi have embraced the idea of the regional presidential primary as being preferable to the traditional precinct caucus which, in most instances, are attended by only a handful of people.

"There is widespread support among the Democratic leadership in all the Southern states for a regional primary," said State Democratic chairman Steve Patterson.

But Patterson still has a battle within his own party executive committee in Mississippi to win endorsement of the primary system of delegate selection. Resistance is expected to come from some black democrats who rallied behind Jesse Jackson in 1984, turning out large numbers in support of their candidate.

Patterson's plan is to hold precinct caucuses for picking the party machinery in a different year from presidential elections, in order to keep presidential politics from skewing the selection of state and local party committees.

"We welcome a preferential primary together with the Democrat Party," said Ebbie Spivey, the state Republican chairman, "because we are confident we would do very well in a popular election."

The Mississippi Republicans held the only presidential preference primary back in 1960, but it came so late that Ronald Reagan had already sewed up the nomination before the primary was held.

While state law in Mississippi already permits party executive committees to opt for holding a preferential primary, it makes it impossible to have one until June, when many of the presidential hopefuls have dropped out of contention.

To give Mississippi an opportunity to hold a presidential primary on March 8, 1988 will require a change in the state law, a move that Patterson is already planning to make, with the approval of the elections committee of the State Democratic Party.

Both state party leaders agree that the preferential primary would bring Mississippi more into the mainstream of national party politics.

That's a far cry from the heyday of the Dixiecrats.

K mart offering gift certificates

Beginning this fall, K mart stores across the country will offer gift certificates to customers and local businesses and charitable organizations, K mart Chairman Bernard M. Fauber announced today.

"K mart gift certificates are yet another means of providing the most convenient service possible to our customers," Fauber said.

The gift certificates in $5, $10 and $25 increments can be purchased at all of K mart's over 2,100 stores.

Also, customers and businesses can order gift certificates by mail from Gift Certificate Sales at K mart Corporation International Headquarters in Troy, Mich., in denominations up to $100.

K mart has also initiated a direct mail campaign to promote the use of K mart gift certificates directly for incentive programs and corporate gift giving.

"Thousands of customers and numerous businesses have requested that we make K mart gift certificates available. Our decision to implement the program is in response to customer demand," Fauber explained.

"The certificates can be used in almost any town in America to buy thousands of name brands at competitive prices," explained Fauber.

K mart Corporation is the second-largest retailer in the world with 1984 sales of $21.1 billion.

The company operates more than 2,100 K mart discount department stores in the U.S., Puerto Rico and Canada as well as Pay Less Drugs Northwest, Designer Depot, Waldenbooks, Kresge and Jupiter stores, Furr's Cafeterias, Bishop Buffets and Builders Square. K mart stock is traded on the New York and Pacific Stock Exchanges (trading symbol KM).

Real estate licenses due for Dec. renewal

Real estate brokers and salespersons are receiving "Greetings" through the mail these days, according to Mississippi Real Estate Commission Chairman Harry J. Joachim of Biloxi.

Real estate licensees must renew their licenses every two years and are being instructed to renew by Dec. 31, 1985.

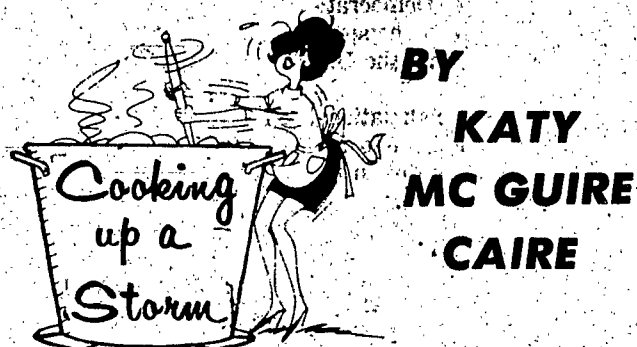

Those who have placed their licenses on inactive status must also renew or else face having their files closed, necessitating qualifying educationally for the license and taking a very comprehensive examination, should they desire to return to the real estate profession.

Continuing education credits are not needed for the current renewal. However, eight classroom hours of approved real estate instruction must be received for the next renewal, two years hence, for both active and inactive real estate professionals.

Continuing education seminars are being scheduled across the state by professional real estate groups, colleges and private providers.

Commission Administrator John W. Neelley advised that there are more than 11,000 licensees in the state of Mississippi.

It's high time to be stirring things up in the kitchen - if you haven't already started - so as to make your culinary specialties for Christmas giving - for a special gift from your kitchen is always welcome at Yuletide, or at any other time of the year, for that matter.

And, perhaps you, like I, have been getting some rather broad hints from friends about how much they liked such-and-such that you made and gave to them. I've even had a couple of friends bring back the fancy jars from last Christmas for refills!

One of my favorites, easily made, is hot pepper jelly, a delicious cocktail condiment served with a block of cream cheese or with other cheese and crackers, and also a tasty relish with chicken or ham or meats. Here's:

HOT PEPPER JELLY

¾ cup bell (green) peppers, chopped fine
¾ cup hot red peppers, chopped fine

1½ cups cider vinegar
6 cups sugar
1 6 oz. bottle Certo

Bring all ingredients, except the Certo, to a boil, stirring constantly. Skim, then add the bottle of Certo, and boil for another minute or so, still stirring. Set aside.

When it cools, pour into glasses or other containers and seal with paraffin, for distribution to your most deserving friends at Christmastime.

And, one of the easiest and tastiest gifts is that favorite of the Old South, Jezebel Sauce, aptly named! It's fiery, and delicious with cream cheese on the cocktail tray, or as an accompaniment to ham, chicken or other foods - and all you do is stir it up! And, it's delicious in a ham sandwich, too.

It keeps indefinitely in the refrigerator - if it stays around that long. So, here's:

JEZEBEL SAUCE

1 18-oz. jar apple jelly
1 18-oz. jar pineapple preserves
1 5-oz. jar prepared horseradish

1 1.12 oz. can dry mustard
2 Tblsp. or less of coarse ground black pepper

Mix the horseradish and dry mustard well together. Combine with the remaining ingredients in a bowl, and stir well together. Spoon into jars or other containers. Cover tightly. (Makes 4 cups sauce).

For gifts, decorate the jars, or use brandy snifters, with tight fitting foil or other covers, and so on. Use your imagination.

Another version of Jezebel Sauce:
1½ cups sweet orange marmalade
1½ cups pineapple preserves
¾ cup prepared horseradish
1½ Tblsp. Dijon mustard
1½ to 2 tsp. crushed red pepper

Combine all ingredients in a bowl. Spoon into four 8-oz. jars with tightfitting lids, and there you have four gifts!

And for still another Jezebel Sauce, combine a cup of pineapple preserves, a cup of apple jelly, a tablespoon of prepared horseradish and a teaspoon of Creole mustard, mixing well. This makes two cups.

National Crime Dog McGruff visits Hancock

By ELLIS CUEVAS

McGruff, the National Crime Dog visited Hancock County last week encouraging youth safety.

Sgt. Winston Cavendish, of the St. Tammany Parish sheriff's office, portrays McGruff and travels nationwide speaking to youth, promoting various programs on safety.

While in Hancock County, McGruff awarded prizes to the winners in the Hancock County Sheriff's Poster Safety Program.

A party was held in the Hancock County Courtroom and McGruff presented toys donated by local merchants to winners in various categories donated by local merchants. Refreshments were also served.

Matt Karl, Hancock County deputy sheriff in charge of the poster contest, said the posters covered safety areas such as swimming, drug abuse, alcohol abuse, neighborhood watch, bicycle safety, kidnap prevention, and child abuse.

The contest was open to public and private schools in Hancock County to students pre-school through fifth grade.

The winners were Mansel Bell, Christ Episcopal, grand prize; Pam Carpenter, Christ Episcopal; Harold Allen, Gulfview; Michelle Dunn, North Bay; Jason Mauffray, Waveland; Kathy Edwards, Bay Catholic; Patrick Kane, Waveland; Aimee Hartyville, St. Clare; Henry Bouganin and Malisa Murphy, Hancock North Central; and Angela Brown, Annunciation.

Karl has visited the area schools and addressed the students on various topics of safety and crime prevention.

There were over 200 entries in the poster contest.

Karl said, "I wish to thank the school administrators and teachers for their assistance in making this program a success."

"Sheriff Ronald Peterson feels it is very important for youngsters to understand the need for good safety habits and techniques of crime prevention," Karl added.

The deputy continued, "Parents, too, are to be thanked for encouraging their children to participate, and we hope to make this an annual event."

McGruff also took time out to visit the Methodist Children's Center encouraging safety among children.

The Louisiana deputy sheriff praised Sheriff Peterson and his deputies involved in promoting crime prevention among the youth.

In St. Tammany Parish crime among youth has been drastically reduced because of the department's involvement in promoting crime prevention and safety, the sergeant stated.

As McGruff, the sergeant has traveled over 175,000 miles and has even visited with President Ronald Reagan at the White House in Washington D.C.

McCullough resigns

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Surprising board members, parents and teachers Monday at the Bay St. Louis school board meeting, 31-year veteran Bay school district Superintendent J. D. McCullough offered his resignation.

McCullough said he felt that 36 years in the education system (31 in Bay district and five years teaching in the county) was enough.

"I've enjoyed working in the district and am looking forward to helping my successor in any way possible to continue to have a good school system," he said.

McCullough's resignation will be effective Dec. 31 but he will continue as superintendent until June 30, 1986.

His current contract with the school system will expire in June 1987.

Board President Walter Turcotte appointed board members Betty

Diboll and Danny Carter to the search committee for a new superintendent.

McCullough will also serve on the committee in an advisory capacity, Turcotte said.

There was confusion during the meeting when McCullough was named to the committee as Diboll objected to having anyone receiving a salary from the school system on the committee.

Turcotte withdrew McCullough's name but later discussion Diboll said her objection was to other educators or principals, not to the superintendent.

Turcotte said Wednesday, McCullough will be an ex officio member of the committee.

In other business the board:

—Authorized McCullough to accept applications from registered nurses for part-time employment in the school system.

—Agreed to have a special meeting to discuss letters of interest from architects in regards to a building program.

—Approved a request from the Bay St. Louis Educators' Association to present and Educational Forum at Bay Junior High School Nov. 21 at 7 p.m.

—Scheduled a hearing for a student recommended for expulsion for Nov. 19 at 7 p.m.

—Authorized the advertisement of bids for asphalt paving work to be done at the junior high school.

HOLIDAY GREENERY

A free program on holiday greenery will be presented Friday, 12:15 to 12:45 p.m., in the Supervisor's Conference Room, first floor, Courthouse, conducted by John Davis, area horticulture specialist, and sponsored by Hancock County Extension home economist.

Participants will learn when to cut native greenery, how to condition it for longer life, and how to make an attractive holiday centerpiece for their home.

"Lunch and Learn" programs are primarily held for the benefit of employed men and women in locations close to their jobs. Participants may bring a brown bag lunch.

Officials lease hangar, prepare to sell land to Baldwin Aircraft

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Moving another step closer to bringing in a new industry, the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission granted a 45-day option to Baldwin Aircraft Co. to purchase land at Stennis Airpark.

The option agreement includes sale of 18.3 acres to Baldwin for $25,000 per acre.

An application by Baldwin for $20 million of industrial revenue bonds was recently approved by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Commission Director James DeBlanc said memorandum of agreement should follow the land-sale option and will be submitted to the Department of Economic Development along with the application for the industrial bonds.

The commission also agreed to lease a storage hangar at the airpark to Baldwin.

Baldwin officials said they planned to store three tractor-trailer rigs of supplies and equipment in the hangar.

The hangar is being leased on a short-term basis for $2,300 per month.

COAST JAZZ SOCIETY

Metropolitan Jazz of New Orleans will be the featured band at the annual Jazz Festival of the Coast Jazz Society on Sunday.

Beginning with a Jazz Parade in front of the Royal d'Iberville Hotel at 2:15 p.m., the Festival will move into the Grand Ballroom and will feature four local jazz bands, the Stardusters Big Band, and several jam sessions during the day.

Admission is $5 for non-members, $3 for members, and $2 for students.

A buffet will be available for those who wish to eat, and also a cash bar.

Metropolitan Jazz is headed by trumpet player Joe Davis of New Orleans, who also vocalizes in the style of Louis Armstrong.

ASPHALT PAVING of a section of Dunbar Avenue started Monday and was completed late Wednesday. This section of the street was torn up in late July to access emergency repairs to a broken sewer line. While sewer lines were being repaired, a cave-in caused a water line to break, further delaying the project. Extensive work was also necessary on underground telephone cables in the work-area. When work in the area was underway, it was estimated to be completed in two weeks. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

One arrested in cocaine sale

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A Bay St. Louis resident was arrested Tuesday night and charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Bay St. Louis Investigator David Murtagh said, "William L. Carter, 51, of Bay St. Louis, was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance" in an incident which allegedly involved sale of approximately one gram of cocaine.

Bond was set at $15,000 and Carter was released from the Hancock County Jail on Wednesday.

He is scheduled for a preliminary hearing before a Hancock County Justice Court judge.

The arrest was made through cooperation between the Bay Police and Hancock County Sheriff's Departments.

Those involved in the arrest were Hancock County Investigator Alvin Ladner, Bay Police Chief Ray Murphy, and Murtagh.

Children's meningitis vaccine now available

Hancock County Health Department is administering Hemophilus influenza b vaccinations between 8:30 and 11:30 a.m. and 1 and 4 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays.

Mississippi children can now get the vaccinations at any of the 82 county health departments statewide. Forty-three thousand doses are available.

The State Board of Health voted at its July meeting to supply the new vaccine that protects young children from one common type of meningitis; it is not a flu vaccine.

Because the Medicaid Commission arranged to finance the purchase of 40,000 doses for Medicaid children between the ages of 18 months and five years, the vaccine will be free to children with Medicaid.

Others will be assessed an $8 fee, according to Judy Yarbrough, office manager for the health department in Bay St. Louis.

"We've had a lot of public interest in this new vaccine," reported Kenneth Laliberte, director of the Mississippi State Department of Health immunization program. "We've gotten a lot of calls from parents who are eager to make sure that their children are immunized."

Health officials, including the American Academy of Pediatrics, recommend that all children be immunized at age two and that many others between 18 months and five years - especially those who attend day care centers - also get the vaccine. They do not recommend vaccination for children younger than 18 months or older than five years.

The Department of Health's FY 1986 budget does not include money to buy the vaccine and supply it free of charge; so non-Medicaid vaccine recipients will have to absorb the cost to assure its availability.

The agency will ask the 1986 session of the State Legislature to appropriate funds for FY 1987's state purchase and free or reduced cost distribution of Hemophilus influenza b vaccine; county health departments already provide free vaccinations against the vaccine-preventable diseases to 80 percent of the state's children.

Combined with immunizations at private physicians' and other clinics, Mississippi boasts one of the highest childhood immunizations levels nationwide.

Hemophilus influenza b meningitis infects the covering of the spinal cord and brain. The disease is the most common form of meningitis in children.

Youngsters who have a chronic disease, who have such problems with their physical immune system as sickle-cell anemia or leukemia, or who have undergone kidney transplants are "high risk" for developing the disease. Those in child day care facilities also risk exposure through close contact with other children.

Nationally, 60 percent of cases of Hemophilus influenza b meningitis occur in children under 18 months. In Mississippi, 61 cases were reported in 1984, the majority in children under one year but one in five cases in those from two through five years of age.

Mississippi parents may telephone their family physician or the local county health department to schedule immunizations.

Extension Service, Chamber to sponsor shoplifting seminar

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Hancock County Extension Service, will co-sponsor an anti-shoplifting seminar Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 20 and 21.

The Wednesday session will be held at the Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue with registration at 6:30 p.m. and the seminar beginning at 7 p.m.

Registration for the Thursday morning session will be at 8:30 a.m. with the seminar beginning at 9 a.m. at the Coast Electric Crew Room, Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Guest speakers for the sessions include Tom Loftin, Extension community development specialist; Ronnie Peterson, Hancock County sheriff; Judge Joseph Benvenuti, Bay St. Louis city judge; Michael Bettis, manager, Kmart Department Store; and a loss prevention officer with McCarty-Holman.

"The chamber encourages all merchants in the area to have their employees attend one of these important sessions," said John Mason, chamber president.

"The chamber is pleased to be able to co-sponsor this worthwhile event with the Hancock County Extension Service, and we would like to see a good turnout from our local businesses," he added.

Interested businesses are asked to contact the chamber office at 467-9048 to register their employees in advance.

$5,414,700, with about $3,593,475 to be supplied by grant funds.

Segment IV calls for the incorporation of some of the county's more densely populated areas into the system. The cost is expected to be about $3,061,700 with a possible 75 percent grant of $2,296,275 included.

Those areas include Shoreline Park, Jourdan River Estates and Jourdan River Isles.

Eaton said his estimates are in 1980 dollars and could increase somewhat before those segments are funded.

These segments are expected to increase the user cost in Bay St. Louis by about $1.15 per month for additional operation and maintenance expenses for the combined system. The average household in Waveland will pay about $1 more.

Monthly debt service will add about $2.38 to a Bay customer's bill and about $2.77 to a Waveland bill. Start-up costs for the system, expected to go into use in 1989, will add another 75 cents and 50 cents, respectively, with cost per 1,000 gallons to be about 20 cents to 23 cents per customer.

Schott said the anticipated increases are lower than originally expected and could change depending on how much grant and loan funding can be obtained.

The suit further alleges that Siebert "continued to insist that the plaintiff was in fact the person who had sold him the controlled substance even after the charges were dismissed on May 30."

The request for damages states that Carver has suffered "mental anguish, embarrassment, humiliation and loss of income on connection with the deprivation of his Constitutional and statutory right guaranteed by the Fifth and 14th Amendments of the Constitution of the United States and protected by Section 42 of the United States Code of 1983."

Paperback lending service planned

The Hancock County Library System has established a paperback lending library service for Pearlinton residents, according to Prima Wusnack, library system director.

The service will operate out of Baldree's General Store.

Owners, James and Patty Baldree are providing space for the service, says Wusnack.

The library system will use the space to set up a rack and basic collection of 900 fiction and non-fiction books.

Two of the stores staff members, Diane Morrow and Joyce Pullman, have volunteered to oversee the daily lending transactions and maintain statistics on use of the service.

Becky Keefe, branch services coordinator for the library system, will coordinate the service from the headquarters library in Bay St. Louis.

During a trial period of one year, statistics and a survey of users will assist the county library board in assessing future informational needs of the Pearlinton community.

FARMWEEK

The sights and sounds of the South's largest agricultural exposition are presented on "Farmweek" at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Nov. 18, on Mississippi ETV.

The Sunbelt Agricultural Exposition held recently in Moultrie, Ga., featured the newest agricultural technological advances, agricultural products and more. And as the "Farmweek" team discovered, such a multitude of exhibits were available that exhibitors had to be pretty innovative to lure visitors to their presentations.

Also included on this edition of "Farmweek" will be special updates on the cotton market and developments in insect control, the most current farm prices, timely advice for farmers and national and local agricultural news. The series is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Zoning.....

had their minds made up and were prejudiced.

Commissioner Clarence Ladner said he could not see how the proposal would downgrade the property.

"I don't have my mind made up but I do not find it a far-fetched idea to see doctors offices fronting the hospital property," Commissioner C. C. McDonald added.

"Why not just meet behind closed doors," questioned resident Rosemary Zeugin. "I don't believe any one of the four of you are listening to what we are saying."

Commissioner Wilson Webre told the group that as a member of the commission he had to ask himself if what was being done was best for the city.

"Some people are vindictive and saying things that are not true to try and convince us of their point," he added.

"I have no personal ax to grind here and I don't believe if I were not doing the job as intended I would still be here after four administrations," Webre said.

"I see absolutely nothing wrong with taking one piece of property and zoning it to allow a medical clinic to be built there on property fronting other commercial property," Webre said.

Steve Scianna said he was sure the residents had confidence in the board.

"But when you get tired of hearing complaints, you can go fishing but we will be there a long way down the line," Scianna added.

Area resident J. P. Compretta also added his opposition to the proposed zoning change.

"I respectfully disagree with the commission that it will be just one lot changed," he said.

"I have been in politics long enough to know that once the door is open, the precedent is set for changes," Compretta added.

Weber said that the community must support the hospital because if it defaults, the price of the hospital will be added to county resident's tax bill.

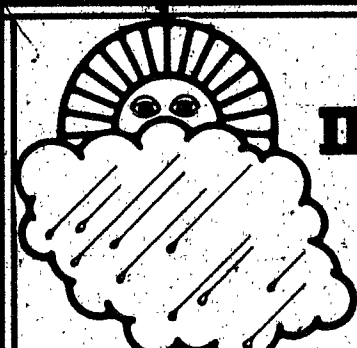

"I don't think that by restricting the area from other health-related activities is supporting the project," he said.

The commission is not limited to rezoning only the area which the proposal covers according planning and zoning ordinances. The entire area around the proposed hospital site may be considered for a special-use district for health-related activities.

In ceremonies

Area veterans honored

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Being a better citizen was emphasized in Circuit Judge Ruble Griffin's Veteran's Day address Monday at Bay St. Louis City Hall.

Urging listeners to support local law officials, Griffin said it is a good time to review what it is in fact that is being supported with the ceremonies.

"Just because the band is playing and the flags are waving is not the reason we are here, but it is the sacrifices of persons defending of ideas that we cherish we are honoring," he said.

Government in all its branches must be supported, otherwise the lives and services of men and women willing to die for these rights shall be in vain, he said.

"Our forefathers, through the constitution guarantees to us freedom that had never been known before," Griffin said.

The task of defending the freedom enjoyed is not always on the field of battle but is necessary in the everyday affairs of life, he said.

Griffin said to truly honor the veterans and those who have died, people should dedicate themselves to the task of learning to become better citizens.

Griffin told the large number of youth representing several area schools that they should prepare themselves in mind and body to be good citizens.

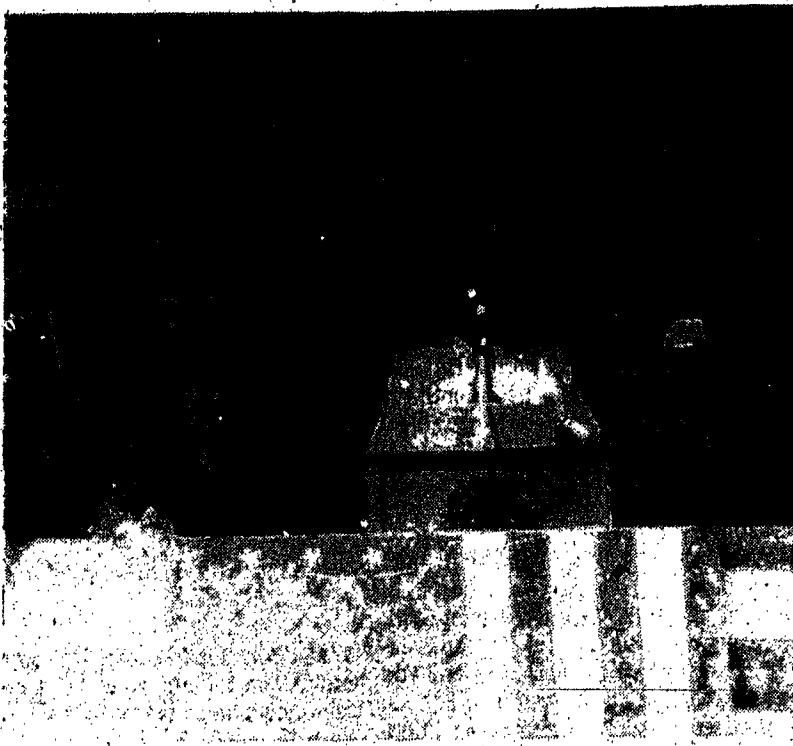

Calling on Sheriff Ronald Peterson for verification, Griffin said that 90 percent of the people who appear in court for burglary, larceny and robbery are committed by persons between the ages of 18 and 25.

Griffin said that illegal drugs are the leading factor that makes "bad citizens of good children."

"Young people develop bad habits and resort to thieving and robbing to support these habits," he said.

"People like this cannot be good citizens and cannot honor our veterans who have died," he said.

Griffin said it is the obligation as a citizen to make the society better.

ETV Brief

EXPLORING CREATION
"The Creation of the Universe," a new special program on ETV, tells the story of scientists who are exploring subatomic particles in an attempt to find a single equation that will account for every fundamental process in nature.

The program, hosted by award-winning science journalist Timothy Ferris with music by Brian Eno (Talking Heads), can be seen at 9 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 20, on Mississippi ETV.

Einstein dreamed of finding a single equation that would account for every fundamental process in nature, from spinning atoms to wheeling galaxies.

Tigers to face Purvis in district play-off

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis High School Tigers take to the road Friday to face the Purvis Tornados in the District VIII-AAA play-offs.

Bay High Head Coach Cleveland Williams said he expects the Tornados to be a tough opponent.

"Purvis has a well-balanced offensive attack with a real good receiver, Fred Young, as their clutch man," Williams said.

"For short yardages they like to run Scott Byrd, a good runner, along with a quarterback who likes to throw the ball as well as run it."

"Over all, Purvis has a solid ball club. On defense, they have hard-nosed kids who love to hit."

The coach said the Tigers have extended their practice time this week in preparation for the game.

"We know our work is really cut out for us," Williams added.

"We must respect their ability to run and pass the ball, but in turn they must respect the Tigers."

The Tigers have paid special attention to defensive preparations because the Tornados vary their offensive formations.

On offense, the Tigers have been working on the same type of balance ed attack used in regular season games.

"I know it will help our ball club to stick to the basic things that have gotten us this far."

"Our boys have really been motivated this week because they have a chance to prove to themselves who is really the best in the 3-A class in District VIII," the coach said.

The Tigers finished their regular season last week with a 20-8 victory over local rival St. Stanislaus and an 8-1 season record.

Purvis also has an 8-1 record for the 1985 season.

Starters for this week's game are expected to include, on the offensive line, Butch Pierce, Trace McRaney, Stace McRaney, Geja Carter, Greg Necaise, Dennis Dear and Robert Hargett. Offensive backs are expected to include Matt Fairconnetue, Brian Laneaux, Willie Lewis and Quentin Bell.

Starters for the Tigers' Nasty Bunch Defense are expected to include Lewis, Stace McRaney, Carter, Hargett, Jerry Island, Todd Manion, Necaise, Dear, Fairconnetue and Jessie Parker.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

The Purvis game is the first of three possible play-off games for the Bay High Tigers.

Commission sets special meet Nov. 18

Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission will conduct a special meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 18 at City Hall.

Commission President Neil Favre said the commission will assess damages to city recreation facilities from storms this season with an eye to setting repair priorities.

Anyone involved in recreation programs using city facilities as well as any other interested persons are urged to attend the meeting, Favre said.

SHOOTING MATCH

Hancock County Humane Society will sponsor a Shooting Match on Saturday, Nov. 23 at Kiln VFW Post 6285 from noon to 4 p.m. 12-gauge shot provided. Donation, $1 per shot. Turkeys, hams and bacon will be awarded.

There are 108 stitches on a regulation baseball.

HERE COME THE HAWKS—In their final appearance of the season the Hancock North Central Hawks will face Forrest County Agricultural High School in the 11th Wendell Ladner Bowl Saturday at 6 p.m. The Hawks with a six win, three loss season record will take on the 7-2 team from Brooklyn.

Coming off a defeat by d'Iberville, the Hancock team will look to redeem themselves and to end the season on a "good note," said Head Coach Irvin Favre. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

IT'S THE COACH'S TURN—Reverend Bo Roberts, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church of Gulfport and of Coast Episcopal High's Red Raiders, discusses the team's 42-24 loss to Central Baptist in Hattiesburg. Roberts teaches religion at CEHS and is working as a high school football coach for the first time.

Rhodes, Hall to bolster River's Lady Cat cagers ★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

More experience, more depth, and the return of several key players are factors that has Pearl River Lady Cats' coach Ned Eades optimistic about the upcoming roundball season.

The Lady Cats, who finished 10-14 last season, will return Piquette native Carolyn Little to the starting line up this season. Little was the leading rebounder last year, and was the team's second leading scorer.

Also returning are Terri Rhodes of Bay St. Louis, Ann Calnes, Bridgett Hall of Kiln, and Deldra Rawls. This group of ladies should give the Lady Cats the needed experience for the new year.

Couple that experience with a group of talented freshmen consisting of Mary Mikels of Bassfield, Kim Ray of Purvis, Chris Hale of Purvis, Carol Jackson of Oak Grove, Terronica Nixon of Pearl River Central, and Sherry Williams of Forrest County and Eades has what can be a very strong team.

"I'm looking forward to the beginning of the new season," said Eades.

"I think we should be better than last season because of our experience and a good group of new players. We've been working hard and are looking forward to tipping things off next month."

If the experience of the Lady Cats can pay off, and the young freshmen come through, the Lady Cats can challenge for the South Division crown. The first step towards that crown begins on November 18 here at the River when the Lady Cats host Southwest.

"If a man could have half his wishes he would double his troubles."

NOVA

"Nova" follows a tornado chase team on the plains of Oklahoma in an attempt to learn more about one of nature's most powerful and frightening weather phenomena at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 19, on Mississippi ETV.

In an effort to accurately forecast these violent storms, scientists have literally been chasing tornadoes for the past decade. Their base of operation is the National Severe Storms Laboratory in Norman, Okla., the heart of "tornado alley."

SHAPE

SPORT HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The key to injury prevention for athletes is proper preparation for strenuous physical activity and competition. Preparation must begin well ahead of the first competitive contest in order for the cardiovascular and muscular systems to be able to react to the stress of competition. Obviously, one of the determining factors in the type of pre-season training is the energy system (anaerobic or aerobic) used in the particular sport or activity.

Injuries are known to occur most when an athlete is fatigued or tired; therefore, it is imperative that the athlete be "in shape" before the first game. Fatigue will cause slow reaction time, decreased contractile characteristics in muscles (decreased strength), decreased muscular endurance (the ability to contract several times without becoming unduly fatigued), and an overall decrease in the level of energy produced.

Increasing and maintaining muscular strength, endurance and flexibility are also important in preventing injuries. Muscular strength and endurance deal with the contractile force and ability to withstand repeated contractions without becoming unduly fatigued. Once fatigue sets in, the metabolic waste products accumulate which limits the contractile force of a muscle as well as its ability to contract repeatedly. If this is the case and the muscle is called upon to contract, injury may occur. The degree of injury depends upon the number of muscle fibers affected and degree of contractile force.

The degree of muscle flexibility also must be considered before participating in a sport or activity. Some sports require more muscle flexibility than others. For example, a gymnast requires a great deal of flexibility while a football player does not require as much. However, some muscle flexibility is required in all sports. A preferred method of increasing muscle flexibility is to use the static method of stretching. This method calls for the slow, deliberate procedure of stretching a muscle or muscle group to its maximum length and holding this position for a least 5 seconds. This method requires less energy and is likely to produce less injury than the traditional ballistic method of bouncing or bobbing during the exercise.

The effectiveness of warm-up exercises before a contest is debatable. Some authorities believe that warm-up exercises do not contribute to the overall performance of an athlete while others feel these exercises are important in elevating the temperature of the body (which leads to preparation for the muscles to contract) and increasing blood flow to the muscles.

Loiacano's Avengers take Under-12 state title in Fall Soccer Festival

Loiacano's Avengers defeated Morton Soccer Club in a penalty kick shoot-out at the goal box to capture the Mississippi State Under-12 Championship played Saturday in Pearl.

During the shoot-out, Morton scored first. Chad Ambrose tied the score. Brian Necaise scored the winning shot and stepped in as goalie to stop the last Morton shot.

Final score was 2-1. This is the first time the Bay Area Youth Soccer League has had a first place champion in a state-sponsored tournament, according to Chip Merigan, Avenger coach.

Gulf Coast Waste Hurricanes topped Greenwood Soccer Club 5-0 at the Fall Soccer Festival in Pearl.

In the finals, the Hurricanes lost to the DeSoto County Soccer League 3-1, resulting in a second-place title for the Under-12 club.

Coach Paul Montjoy stated, "The team played well, even though they were lacking three of four fullbacks."

Bernard Construction Knights Under-12 topped Southwest Rankin Arrows 5-0 in the first match of the day at the soccer festival. Leading scorers for the Knights were Danny Harville, Steve Granger and Scott Pepperman.

The second game of the day with the more rested Greenwood Kicks was the only loss of the tournament for the Knights. With the score 1-1 at the half, the Knights fought hard to control the ballgame against the aggressive Kicks.

Goalie Brett Ladner made several outstanding saves only to have a corner kick headed in during the last three minutes of the game to make the final score 2-1.

Anthony Lee, Beau Schindler, and Scott Emmel displayed great defensive teamwork keeping the ball up to the halfbacks Richard Watson, Rodney Neville, Karl Stroh, Kris Dahn, and Philip Glass.

The Knights were fired up for the Sunday morning match against the Pearl's Blue Thunder. Bert Cour-rege assisted on one goal with a near perfect cross over to Scott Pepperman. The most exciting goal was the wing run by Scott Emmel to score one for the Knights. Adding to the final score of 5-0 was Brett Ladner.

The defensive line of the Knights is to be congratulated, according to Coach Watson, on the fine job they did holding all opponents to only two goals total.

Congratulations to Knights Scott Pepperman and Richard Watson who won first and third place in the Under-12 boys juggling contest. They both received plaques from the Fall Soccer Festival for their achievement.

CPC Design Build Panthers also traveled to Pearl for the festival.

Mickey Quinlan, Martin Braud, and Curt Colson were cited as outstanding players. Darrin Rose was cited for the Most Hustle. Most Team Spirit was exhibited by Scott Marshall. Outstanding Back was Bryon Gagnon. Outstanding Sweeper was Geoffrey Kohl.

Take-One Video also participated in the Fall Soccer Festival at Pearl, winning their Under-10 bracket but suffering defeat in the quarter finals Sunday.

"Our kids proved they could play against the better teams from all over the state of Mississippi," the coach said.

Gentz Raiders also traveled to Pearl for the Fall Soccer Festival.

Raiders cited as outstanding were Zach Corbell, defense; Mitchell Poole, offense; Brandon Jacobi, offense; and Jason Smith, offense.

LOCAL ACTION

Under-8 Robbie Lumpkin of Rotary Club Bears scored seven goals to lead his club in a 8-0 whitewash of Sharon Raphael's Team in Under-8 action on the Waveland Civic Center Field Saturday.

Lumpkin was named most valuable player of the game, according to Rotary Coach Donnie Pearson.

Forward David Flowers scored Rotary's other goal.

Also cited for the Bears as most improved are Jeffrey Douger, fullback, and Michael Mancuso, forward.

The Bears, with a 1-3 fall season record, will play coach Waddy LeBourgeois' Under-8 Girls Team this week at the Waveland field.

Also Saturday, McDonald Realty defeated American Legion Post 77 Scrappers 5-0.

McDonald Coach Nancy Uram named the following players for outstanding play: Sanders Kane, scored goal; Sammy Green, scored goal; Alan Uram, scored goal; Philip Ryan, outstanding play; and Shawn Piernas, outstanding play.

Joseph Wambgans is most valuable player for his outstanding play as Legion goalie. Most improved Scrapper was Ryan Rupp.

Coca Cola topped Debenport's Under-10 girls 4-0. Coca Cola Coach Bernard Tusa cited Tim Kingston as MVP.

The Nell Frisbie Frisbees were off this week.

Under-10 Hancock General Stitches defeated Gateway Body Shop 5-1. Gateway Coach Marc Boston named Paxton Williams' most improved player.

"There was good hustle on everyone's part. It was a really good game," he commented.

The Dental Health Alligators were off last week.

Scott Gelpi with Marco Builders won second place in the Under-10 juggling contest held at the festival in Pearl.

Under-12 Alcan Cable Destroyers played three games this weekend. In the first game against the Picayune Under-12 team, they won 2-1. The second and third games were played against a Picayune Under-14 team. Final score second game 3-2.

Picayune won. Final score third game, 1-0, Picayune.

Jeremy Clark scored two goals during the day. Joseph Dobson scored on a penalty shot.

Under-14 Popovich's Crew scrimmaged Domino's Pizza Destroyers and Willett's Slidell Sting.

Coach Popovich stated the "season finale will be played Saturday at Waveland Elementary soccer field. The opponent will be Picayune."

Domino's Pizza Destroyers topped Slidell Select String 2-1. Goals were scored by Wade Weidman and Blain Feuerstein.

Feuerstein's score was made on a direct kick from outside the penalty box to ice the game.

Brandon Wheeler was cited as performing an outstanding job as goalie as well as Kevin Jacobi.

Coach Weidman cited Jessie Hayes for outstanding job as sweeper.

Scott Hinks and Mark Carter were cited for their most improved play.

Weidman said, "Kevin Jacobi and Scott Barnes played their usual steady game."

The next Destroyer game will be played at Waveland Elementary soccer field, 1:30 p.m. Saturday against the Picayune Green Raiders.

Coach Weidman cited Jessie Hayes for outstanding job as sweeper.

Rocks to open four-month cage season against Long Beach Friday

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws open a 20-game, 3-tournament 1985-86 basketball season against Long Beach Bearcats at SSC gym Friday.

"Our boys are working hard, but we are a little inexperienced. We will run a man-to-man defense, as well as a zone. Offensively, we will rely on our outside shooting and the fast break," concluded Bro. Anton.

Most Valuable Players selected from prep teams

Most Valuable Player award winners selected from local high schools last week include Charles Burton and Darrell Booker, offensive and defensive winners, respectively, from Hancock North Central.

Burton scored one touchdown, rushed for 88 yards, and was rated the team's 'most productive offensive player.'

Booker played a good defensive game all night, according to the judges.

From St. Stanislaus, Mike Yarborough is the offensive winner and Joe Golmon was selected on defense.

'Yarborough did a good job blocking on the offensive line and threw a key block for SSC's only touchdown,' according to the program sponsors, Trophies by Rick Geoffrey and Loiacano's Health Club.

'Golmon turned in a lot of good tackles on defense and did not allow any long gains on his side of the line,' judges feel.

Bay High's Willie Lewis scored two touchdowns and picked up 81 yards rushing to take the Tigers' offensive honors.

Craig Breland had eight tackles and 'played a good defensive game' to take the defensive MVP honors for the Tigers.

Scholarship brunch a tribute to Vaught

A tribute to John H. Vaught, retired head football coach and director emeritus of intercollegiate athletics at The University of Mississippi, will be held Saturday, Nov. 23, at the Ramada Renaissance in Jackson.

Proceeds from the 9 a.m. brunch will go to the newly created John H. Vaught Scholarship Fund.

Over a period of 26 years, Vaught's Ole Miss teams won six Southeastern Conference championships, were in the national Top 10 rankings nine times, and went to 17 bowl games (including 14 straight, a record at the time).

Vaught produced a score of All-American football players, many of whom went on to play professionally. (Most of the players he coached - including star quarterbacks from Charlie Conerly to Archie Manning - are planning to attend the brunch.)

He is 12th on the all-time Division I-A coaching victories list with 190 wins and is second on the SEC list. His 1959 Rebels were voted 'Team of the Decade" in the SEC and his 1950 team was selected national champion by the Football Writers Association.

Vaught was forced by circulatory problems to retire in 1970 but returned as coach-athletic director during the 1973 season. He retired as athletic director in 1978.

His accomplishments earned places in the National Football Hall of Fame, the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame and the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Tickets for the brunch - which is sponsored by Ole Miss and the University of Mississippi Foundation - are $25 to $50, according to seating priority. For ticket information, contact Eagle Day, P. O. Box 4542, Jackson, MS 39216, telephone (601) 944-3286.

CRAIG BRELAND

Strong elected

Lon Strong, executive director of the Department of Wildlife Conservation, has been elected to the executive committee of the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies.

The IAFWA is an organization made up of all 50 states, the Provinces of Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, and the Republic of China. The executive committee sets policy and priorities for the Association.

The objectives of the Association are to promote the rational management of fish and wildlife and to foster the conservation of all natural resources by cultivating friendly relationships and mutual understanding.

Through its various committees, representation in Washington, participation in congressional hearings, and study commissions, the Association brings its expertise and prestige to bear in behalf of needed advances and reforms in fish and wildlife management at the state, national, and international levels.

Other members of the executive committee are the directors from New York, Kansas, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Nevada, Michigan, and a representative from Canada.

As most hunters know, the either-sex deer hunting regulations are put together according to the varying whitetail deer needs in different sections of the state. The regulations can affect the overall health of a heard and the hunting experience.

The either-sex regulations are a combination of inputs from hunters, landowners, biologists, and others. Added to this are data gleaned from other investigations into the habitat needs or health requirements of the deer herd.

The final decision on season lengths, dates, and bag limits is the responsibility of the five-member Commission on Wildlife Conservation. Their decision is based on what's best for managing and perpetuating the deer resource now and for future generations to enjoy. This year's either-sex hunting is as follows:

AREA I: Statewide, but including only the following wildlife management areas: Bucatunna, Chickasawhay, Leaf River, Pascagoula River, Little Blom, Old River, and Wolf River. Date: Dec. 21.

AREA II: Counties of Adams; Amite; Claiborne; Clarke, including Bucatunna WMA; Copiah, west of I-55; Franklin; Jefferson; Kemper; Lauderdale; Lincoln, west of I-55; Lowndes, south of Hwy. 82; Noxubee; Pike, west of I-55; Warren, west and south of Hwy. 61 and I-20; Wayne, north of Hwy. 84; and Wilkinson. Dates: Dec. 21 and 22.

AREA III: Counties of Coahoma, west of the west base of the main Mississippi River Levee; Bolivar and Washington, west of Hwy. 1 (excluding Ozark Island); DeSoto, west of the west base of the main Mississippi River Levee.

END OF THE LINE—Pirate tailback Gary Smith (5) is hauled down after short yardage by a Long Beach lineman. Bearcat wide receiver Charlie Marshall (86) moves in for an assist on the tackle. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

The highest tides in the world are found in the Bay of Fundy, that separates New Brunswick from Nova Scotia in Canada.

THIRTY MINUTE BATTLE—Mark Parrish of Waveland struggled some 30 minutes to land this 45-pound black drum from the waters of Mississippi Sound off the American Legion Pier in Bay St. Louis. Parrish took this unusually large specimen on market bait and light tackle Saturday afternoon while fishing with Dave Clark and Jack Seuzeneau, both of Bay St. Louis. The group also boated some 35 speckled trout during the outing. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

ETV Brief

GREENWOOD DIG

"Mississippi Roads" visits the site of an archaeological dig in Greenwood at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 19, on Mississippi ETV. Bill Hony, president of the Mississippi Archaeological Association, explains what's going on.

The "Mississippi Roads" crew travels south to Jackson for a close-up look at the Jackson Mets baseball team. Interviewed are Barry Lyons of Jackson, catcher; Con Maloney of Jackson, owner; and Michael Feder of Madison, director of public relations.

On "Mississippi Roads" weekly side trip, Macon is the destination, where the Noxubee County Library, once a jail, is visited.

On the cooking segment, Harold Lee, owner of the Big Apple Inn in Jackson, shares the restaurant's recipe for a hot sausage sandwich.

Sister Thea Bowman, Diocesan Director of Cultural Awareness for the Jackson Diocese, leads a group of children of Holy Child Jesus School in Canton in some lively inspirational music.

Jackie Fischel of Vicksburg, in her familiar Mother Goose costume, reads Mother Goose to a group of schoolchildren.

"Mississippi Roads" also visits Alligator, Mississippi, in Bolivar County to learn how it got its unusual name.

DEPRESSION

One of the most common of mental illnesses and one of the most treatable.

When does a temporary depression become a clinical depression? How can you tell when someone you love — or perhaps yourself — needs help? These symptoms are easy to recognize:

- Sleeping too much — or insomnia
- Confusion, inability to make decisions
- Loss of energy, fatigue
- Guilt feelings, lack of self-worth
- Lack of interest in work or play
- Loss of weight or excessive weight gain

DON'T IGNORE A GOOD LIFE!

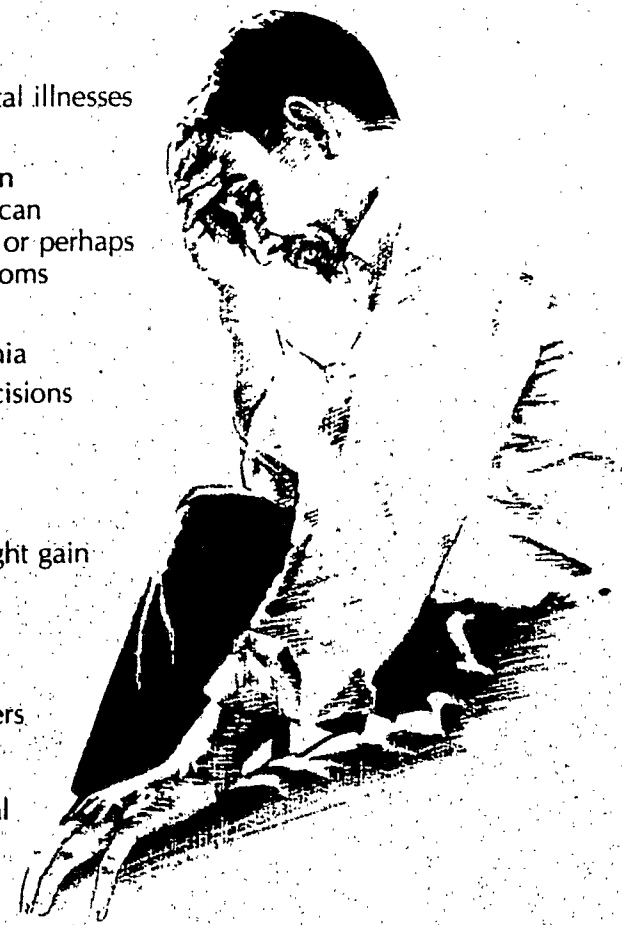

At Gulf Oaks Hospital and Clinic, an exceptional psychiatric and counseling staff is trained to help others with emotional problems associated with depression. Special programs have been developed to fit individual needs.

Help is available — and so near. Call one of our counselors today.

Navy accepting scholarship applications

The Navy has announced it is presently accepting applications for its 1986 four-year Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) scholarship program.

"The four-year NROTC scholarship can be worth as much as $50,000 at one of the more than 65 leading colleges and universities in the country," said Captain Warren L. Holbert, commanding officer of Navy Recruiting District Memphis and head of Navy recruiting in Mississippi, western Tennessee, western Kentucky, northeastern Arkansas, the Missouri bootheel and the southern tip of Illinois.

"The Navy awarded about 2,000 four-year NROTC scholarships last year," the captain said. NROTC scholarship students, he explained, are appointed midshipmen in the Naval Reserve by the Secretary of the Navy and, as such, are granted the compensation and benefits authorized by law for a period not to exceed four years of undergraduate study.

Capt. Holbert said application forms can be obtained by writing to District Personnel Office, Navy Department, 8 North Third St., Memphis, TN 38103, or by calling toll-free 1-800-238-5580.

Bay High

to host open house

Bay High will host an Open House Monday, Nov. 18 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Parents, grandparents and guardians of students in ninth through 12 grades are asked to meet in the library at 6:30 p.m. for a brief orientation period.

They will then spend ten minutes in each class on their student's schedule, meeting teachers and asking questions concerning curriculum. Afterward, refreshments will be served in the home economics department.

College-Career Fair slated

Bay High School is one of the sponsors of the Mississippi Counseling Association College/Career Fair being held at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center Wednesday, Nov. 20.

Students and parents are encouraged to attend between 6:30 and 9 p.m. in the rooms on the northeast side of the convention center.

Over 60 colleges and universities will have representatives there. For additional information call: 75-8418.

Girl Scout News

NEIGHBORHOOD MEET

The Bay-Waveland Girl Scout Neighborhood meeting was held Nov. 6 at the Waveland Library.

Reports were given on the Area Association meeting in Picayune and the program center dedication at Camp Iti Kana.

Leslie Duhe was introduced as the new secretary and Liz Ferrell was the new Girl Scout hut manager.

Plans were finalized for a Thanksgiving camp-out Nov. 22-24 at Camp Iti Kana in Wiggins which will include a service project to benefit the Hancock County Animal Control Shelter in Waveland.

The next meeting will be the annual Christmas party on Dec. 4.

Attending were Alice Holmes, Barbara Fillingame, Lyn Fillingame, Alea Fairchild and Sherrell Buehler of Bay St. Louis; Philomena Carr, Linda Ladner, Vera Mestayer and Liz Ferrell of Waveland; Susan Kihnenan and Kathy Clark of Lakeshore; Crystal Burrows of Pearlinton; and Diane Bennett of Lenore Madden of Diamondhead.

VETERANS PARADE

Girl Scouts from Waveland and Bay St. Louis troops participated in the annual Veterans' Day parade in Bay St. Louis.

Troops represented were Brownie Troop 102 from North Bay Elementary School and Brownie Troop 333 and Junior Troop 98 from St. Clare School in Waveland.

CALENDAR SALE

The annual Girl Scout calendar sale is being held during the month of November. Mrs. Philomena Carr is in charge of the campaign.

Anyone, who has not been contacted, may call her at 467-1547.

Troop 102 from North Bay Elementary School has earned the calendar patch award for selling five calendars per girl. Other troops are still striving for this goal.

CAMPOUT

Eleven troops of the Bay-Waveland Girl Scout Neighborhood are completing plans to attend the Intertroop weekend at Camp Iti Kana in Wiggins, Nov. 22-24. Brownie troop 93 of the Gulfview School has completed sit-upons.

Junior troop 98 has put the final touches on menu plans and has volunteered to make a cake for the noon meal when all the girls will join in an early Thanksgiving feast.

Senior troop 27 will roast a turkey and prepare peach cobbler in Dutch ovens.

Junior troop 257 from the Waveland Elementary School will be in charge of the evening campfire.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

In other activities, Brownie Troop 333 from St. Clare School visited the Waveland Fire Department during Fire Prevention Week.

Brownie Troop 66 from the Waveland Elementary School participated in a seat belt awareness program sponsored by the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council. They made safety posters which were displayed in many Coleman Avenue business establishments.

Troop 66 also conducts the flag ceremony opening Waveland Elementary School PTO meetings and is providing seasonal decorations for the Waveland Library.

Senior Troop 27 attended the all-council Senior-Cadette weekend at Camp Iti Kana. Some of the activities were beauty basics, a course on cosmetics, gimmick cooking, a course on unusual outdoor cooking techniques and a ten-mile canoe float trip down the Black Creek.

Brownie troop 102 is now sponsored by the North Bay Elementary School.

TROOP 453

Bay Catholic Troop 453 will conduct investiture ceremonies at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 21 at the school cafeteria. Parents are invited.

OFFICER OF BAY HIGH'S CO-ED CLUB are, from left, Jennifer Cotte, vice president; Caytee Carter, president; Kelly Ramsey, secretary; and Cherrie Monti, treasurer. The club is currently preparing for Youth Legislature to be in Jackson. Cotte and Carter have also been chosen for the YMCA Conference on National Affairs. Tim Raynaud and Paul Pierce are chaplain and sergeant-at-arms, respectively. Advisors are Nick Seymour and Jill Williams.

USM offering Picayune campus courses

The University of Southern Mississippi is offering seven courses in Picayune during a special winter term.

The planned three-hour credit courses include word processing concepts, concepts and practices in word processing, social studies in the elementary school, technical writing, drug identification, math for elementary teachers and foundations in American education.

Classes will meet once a week on a night schedule at Picayune Junior High School and will end in early February. There will also be a three week break during Christmas holidays.

Officials of the USM Division of Lifelong Education, which sponsors the classroom program, say courses are being resumed in Picayune this year because of market demand. For registration information, call toll-free 1-800-CALLUSM, ext. 4210.

GREAT PERFORMANCES

Fugard's Broadway play "Master Harold...and the Boys" will be presented on "Great Performances" at 9 p.m., Friday, Nov. 15, on Mississippi ETV. Pictured: Matthew Broderick.

DTP booster available again

County health departments are recalling Mississippi youngsters whose DTP booster vaccinations were deferred because of a vaccine shortage.

"We now have ample stock of diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis vaccine in every county and are giving the fourth and fifth booster shots," said Kenneth Laliberte, director of the Mississippi State Department of Health immunization program.

Some 7,000 youngsters had to delay getting the vaccination against the three potentially deadly childhood diseases.

Mississippi and the rest of the nation ran short of vaccine when two of three major pharmaceutical companies quit making the vaccine and the third had trouble producing usable supplies.

SAE at Southern wins 'Zeal' award

The University of Southern Mississippi's Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity received the "Zeal Award" during homecoming Nov. 2. The national director of SAE, Ken Tracy, was on hand to present the award to SAE President Barry Parker of Dothan, Ala.

The award is presented each year to one chapter that is recognized as outstanding. USM's chapter of SAE has some 85 members and was organized in 1965, 109 years after the founding of the national organization.

Other SAE officers include Vice President John Vardaman of Jackson, Secretary Chuck Donlin of Pass Christian and Treasurer Hans Weger of Batesville.

GROUNDBREAKING—Despite overcast skies and intermittent rain which preceded Hurricane Juan, Xavier University officials and dignitaries break ground for Xavier's $5.5 million Science Center which will provide a badly-needed new home for the University's humanities, premed, mathematics, computer science, physics, chemistry and biology departments. Participating in the groundbreaking ceremony are, from left, Monte H. Jacoby, member, Board of Trustees; Sister M. Juliana Haynes, president, Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament; Dr. Harold Vincent, faculty representative; Karen Crawford, president, Student Government Association; Dr. Norman C. Francis, president, Xavier University; and William T. McCaffrey, chairman, Board of Trustees. The building is expected to be completed by early 1987.

Groundbreaking heralds early start on Xavier's $5.5 million science center

When the Xavier University Board of Trustees first approved a five-year capital campaign—which included construction of a science building—in 1981, the need was considered serious.

At that time, the number of students majoring in the sciences had grown to better than 40 percent of the total school enrollment, indicating that more and more students were becoming interested in taking advantage of the University's unparalleled success in preparing young blacks for careers in the health professions and other science-related fields.

The need that was so serious back then has since evolved to the critical stage.

So critical, in fact, that Xavier officials have decided to begin building the science center immediately—even before the campaign has finished and all the funds required to complete construction of the complex have been raised.

Thus, one year ahead of schedule, groundbreaking for the Xavier science center was held Oct. 28 on the building site at the corner of Palmetto and Short Streets.

In announcing the early groundbreaking, Xavier University President Dr. Norman C. Francis said the immediate need for the new facility was prompted by the dramatic increase in the number of students entering health and natural science-related fields of study during the past four years.

This fall, more than 50 percent of the students at Xavier are enrolled in the sciences, with nearly two-thirds of this year's freshman class indicating a preference for study in that area.

The $5.5 million science center, the first building to be constructed on the campus since completion of the College of Pharmacy building in 1970, remains the major goal of a much larger campaign to raise $19 million for operating expenses, endowment, construction and renovation.

To date, $13.2 million has been raised, including more than $4.2 million of the funds earmarked for the new building. Xavier officials expressed confidence that the full goal will be reached by the end of the campaign in December 1986.

The planned 73,500 square foot science center will house state-of-the-art teaching, research and student laboratory facilities for the humanities, premed, mathematics, computer science, physics, chemistry and biology departments. In addition, it will provide space for faculty offices, a 250-seat auditorium and the university's computer center.

The perfectly square, ultra-modern masonry and reinforced concrete structure was designed by Blitch Architects, Inc., to mesh architecturally with the already existing adjoining Gothic-style campus buildings. Construction will be by the Landis Construction Company.

Francis said that while the new center was designed with the idea of accommodating the increasing number of science majors, its primary benefit will come through the badly needed consolidation of academic departments.

"It will provide for the orderly replacement of outdated facilities," he said, referring to structures such as the old wooden WWII buildings which currently house the chemistry department. "The science departments are currently scattered about the campus in both permanent and temporary quarters. These will finally be brought under one roof."

The building will also indirectly benefit other unrelated academic departments as well, since those departments would move into the areas in the administration building vacated by the sciences.

Francis said plans for the science center were based on a realistic projection of enrollment at Xavier and on enrollment trends nationwide. The new building is also part of Xavier's overall efforts to directly address the current underrepresentation of blacks in health and science-related careers.

Despite national reports of a forthcoming glut of medical personnel within the next decade, there remains a very serious shortage of blacks in the health professions, according to Francis.

While blacks comprise nearly 13 percent of the U.S. population, less than three percent of the nation's physicians, dentists, pharmacists, optometrists and podiatrists are black. That underrepresentation is a major contributor to the fact that, on the average, blacks in America receive poorer health care than their majority counterparts, he said.

During the past seven years, Xavier has assumed a major role in the placement of blacks into health professional schools. Xavier is consistently among the top five colleges and universities in the United States in placing black students into medical and dental school, and first in placing blacks into pharmacy school, according to statistics compiled by the American Association of Medical Colleges (AAMC) and the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy (AACCP).

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Auto accidents are a frequent cause of spinal injuries. Even those collisions in which, apparently, no one is hurt, may have claimed innocent victims whose injuries were not immediately evident. In the absence of blood or broken bones, the victim may assume that he or she has escaped unharmed, when actually strained or damaged ligaments and muscles may allow vertebrae to slip and cause nerve interference that will show up later, with pain and loss of function.

SALES ASSOCIATE— Coldwell Banker Nell Frisbie, Inc. Realtors reports the recent association of Sally V. Covillion as a sales representative. A weekender in this area for many years, she has established permanent residency in Garden Isles with her husband, Arthur. Having completed two Graduate Realtor Institute courses, Covillion is a licensed salesperson. She brings with her over 30 years business experience as title researcher, legal secretary, insurance technician and most recently insurance manager for Tidewater, Inc. at corporation headquarters in New Orleans, La.

The University of Mississippi School of Law will host an area workshop for prospective law students, their parents, pre-law advisers, career counselor and other interested parties on Nov. 19 at Jackson's Research and Development Center.

The program will be 6-8 p.m. in the University's Center in the Educational Television Auditorium. A special staff from the Law School will offer career guidance counseling in opportunities available at Ole Miss.

Acting Law School Dean Guthrie Abbott said, "We are excited about our first area workshop and we urge anyone who is interested in studying law to come out and talk with us."

Jackson attorney and Ole Miss alumnus E. Clifton Hodges Jr. will be the guest speaker.

Charles Clark, field recruiter and director of the fourth education and continuing legal education program; Associate Professor Robert Weems, pre-law adviser; and Karen W. Morgan, coordinator of admissions and recruitment.

Also participating will be senior law students Camille Henick of Yazoo City and Bobby Harges of Grenada.

Pre-registration is not required. A reception in the center's lobby will follow the workshop.

A thought for meditation from our pastor, Father Lambert Stack, ST.
 "The poet enters into himself in order to create. The contemplative enters into God in order to be created."

—Thomas Merton

According to Father Stack, beginning next month, Dec. 3, Confirmation class will be held at 7 p.m. the first Tuesday of each month in the parish hall instead of Thursday as originally scheduled.

Everyone in the parish planning to be confirmed must attend these classes.

For two days this weekend, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15 and 16, a Christmas Boutique will be held in the parish hall from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

St. Ann-St. John Altar Society members have prepared a lovely assortment of gift ideas for Christmas giving at reasonable prices.

Proceeds from this annual sale will benefit the parish. Come browse and buy.

Because of the Thanksgiving Day holidays the monthly meeting of St. Ann-St. John's Altar Society will be held one week earlier and has been scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 20 in the parish hall at 11 a.m.

The November bingo-luncheon will follow as usual immediately at noon in the parish hall.

"The way of an eagle in the air; the way of serpent upon a rock; the way of a ship in the midst of the sea; and the way of a man with a maid."

SERIES FW 11

RULES AND HOW TO PLAY:

- No purchase necessary to participate. Receive a free game ticket and collector card on request at the checkout counter or store office. Limit one ticket per adult (18 years or older) per store visit per day.
- To Play: Simply punch out the perforated portion of the game ticket to reveal your four markers. Each marker corresponds to an appropriate square on the collector card. For example, if one of your markers is an $4 in the $100 game, insert that marker in the appropriate square on the collector card. Free squares do not require a marker. Free squares are not transferable.
- To Win: $20, $100, $1,000 and $5,000 cash games play just like regular bingo; complete a row down, across or diagonally.
- If one of your markers reads: Win $1 instantly, Win $2 instantly, or Win $5 instantly, simply present the marker and collect your prize immediately from any authorized store personnel upon verification.
- To Claim A Prize: All markers which are not part of the winning row should be removed and transferred to a new collector card. Customer must submit and sign the collector card and initial the front of each marker in the winning row in the presence of authorized store personnel who will arrange for verification. Instant Winners of $1, $2, and $5 cash can be verified and paid at the store upon verification. Potential winners of $20, $100, $1,000 and $5,000 cash games must submit game materials to sponsor for verification.

Once the submitted prize claim has been verified by the sponsor, the prize will be awarded. All game materials submitted for verification become the property of the game sponsor and cannot be returned. All tax liability on prizes is the responsibility of the prize winner.

5. Sweepstakes Entries: If one (1) of your markers reads "Sweepstakes Entry," place it in one of the boxes on the Sweepstakes Entry Form. When you have collected five (5) markers, tape them onto the entry, cut the entry blank on the dotted line, fill in your name, address and telephone number. The Sweepstakes Entry must contain five (5) markers in order to qualify for the Sweepstakes Drawing. Deposit the entry at any Jitney Jungle Food Store or Food Center Warehouse. There is no limit to the number of times the Sweepstakes may be entered as long as each entry contains five (5) qualifying markers.

Any entry not having five (5) qualifying markers will automatically be disqualified. Sweepstakes entries become the property of the sponsor. Odds of the Sweepstakes are entirely dependent on the number of entries received. The winner need not be present to win. The winner will be drawn by Methode Marketing, Inc., an independent judging company on Saturday, February 22, 1986. For the name of the winner, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Winner, P.O. Box 71825, Marietta, Georgia 30067-1825.

All entries must be deposited before midnight February 18, 1986 or by the close of normal business hours.

- All game materials will be rejected and judged VOID if not obtained from and verified by authorized personnel or if any part of any game piece is illegible, altered, mutilated, defaced, tampered with, forged, contains printing or other errors, or is irregular in any way. Any attempt to defraud or to forge game materials in any way will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. Game materials VOID where taxed or prohibited by law.
- Game ends when all game tickets are distributed. All prizes must be claimed within seven (7) days after the termination of game or prizes are forfeited. If prize claims for prizes in any category equals the number of prizes advertised, then the game as it relates to that specific prize category shall immediately terminate without notice and any unverified claims submitted at or after that time shall be automatically rejected.
- Only game materials with Series FW11 VALID for this game.
- Employees of participating stores (and their I.R.S. listed dependencies), the sponsor, its subsidiaries, game supplier and its advertising agency are not eligible to win any prizes.
